The work was done in the summer of 1906. The concrete plant was arranged very economically and satisfactorily as there was considerable concrete to place at this point in addition to the wasteway, there being another tunnel portal, over two hundred feet of canal lining and nearly four hundred feet of tunnel lining. No attempt was made to save in the preliminary expense in locating and erecting the concrete plant. A one-half-yard Smith mixer was installed on a bench about 25 ft. above the grade of the canal and about 20 ft. back from the slope, at a point about opposite the wasteway culvert. Sand and gravel were obtained on top of a hill back of the mixer. A one-foot layer of earth was first stripped off the pit by teams and scrapers. The sand and gravel was then shoveled by hand into wheelbarrows and carried about 40 ft. to a trestle where it was dumped into screens, from which the separated and graded materials were carried by gravity through spouts to bins back of the mixer. A car holding a two-sack batch of concrete was used to deliver sand and gravel from the bins to the mixer, the length of haul being about 15 ft. The concrete was dumped from the mixer into a car which in turn dumped into a chute about 20 ft. away. The chute emptied into a bin from which the concrete was taken in Sterling carts having...
